Nalini Andrade
Project Manager
femS3

Nalini Andrade obtained her Masters in Social Policy and Development from the London School of Economics, after which she worked in various areas of development such as human rights, youth work, and urban livelihoods.

At Fem Sustainable Social Solutions, she manages programmes and coordinates the monitoring and implementation with partners across India. She is passionate about solving social problems through community based social-business models and has been instrumental in successfully setting up a community run drinking water model in urban India which is now being replicated across the country.

Before joining femS3, she worked with Janalakshmi to set up their livelihood programme and also performed a stint in North America working on youth issues there. Nalini holds a Bachelors in social work from the University of Mumbai and a PG Diploma in Human Rights Law from the National Law School, Bangalore.
